

The Daily Courant.

Monday, August 31. 1702.

From the Leyden Gazette, Dated Aug. 31.

Venice, Aug. 18.

THE Duke and Dutcheſs of Guastalla not thinking themselves safe in their own Principality during the present State of Affairs in Italy, are retir'd hither with the Princess their Daughter. The Chevalier Fourbin has at length left our Coasts, and 'tis thought he is gone to Croatia; because some Barks that are come in hither from Istria report, that they saw some Ships go into the Road of Trieste, and that on the 16th instant, they heard great Cannona-ding all day long from thereabouts. Signior Canale is made Procurator of St. Mark, on Payment of the usual Fine of 25000 Ducats. The last Letters from Palermo say, That the Count de Tholouse, Grand Admiral of France and Spain, was sail'd from thence for Messina; and that after he had visited that Port, he would proceed to take a View of all the Harbours of Sicily. All our Letters from the Modeneze, and the Neighbouring Country advise, that there is a great Mortality in the Army of the King of Spain; and some from Cremona, that there are no less than 6 or 7000 Sick and Wounded Officers and Soldiers in that City; but we wait to have this confirm'd before we believe it.

Rome, Aug. 12. Cardinal Fourbin has demanded leave of the Pope, in the Name of his Master the K. of France, to put Garrisons into Parma and Placentia, which his Holiness has refus'd to grant.

From the Harlem Courant, Dated Sept. 2.

Vienna, Aug. 19. Count Schlick is gone agen to the Court of the Elector of Bavaria, to renew his Instances to that Prince to enter into the War against France.

From the Amsterdam Courant, Dated Sept. 2.

Schaffhausen, Aug. 23. 'Twas expected that there would have been a general Diet of the Cantons in September, but it appears, that those Cantons that are in Alliance with the Dutchy of Milan intend to put it off; and that they will raise Men for the Service of the King of Spain, pursuant to the terms of that Alliance.

From the Amsterdam Courant, Dated Sept. 2.

Breslau, Aug. 23. Part of the Swedish Army lying on the usual Road of the Post, the Letters from Poland do not come to us so regularly as formerly. General Guldenstern with the Swedish Forces that came out of Pomerania under his Command lyes near Czertocau. Part of the Nobility of Poland are met at Sendomir, but shew no inclination to assist their King in this War; We hear nothing of the Polish Army. 'Tis hop'd the Duke of Mecklenburg will do something towards composing the Quarrel between the 2 Kings; and some say they have both hearken'd to Proposals of Peace, and that they have refer'd the Points in dispute to the Cardinal Primate. The Imperial Ambassador is gone towards Pless, from thence to continue his journey to the King of Prussia. The Starost of Cracow, who was confin'd by the Swedes, is set at Liberty. Letters from Vienna say, that an Express was arriv'd there from Venice, with the News that the Venetian Fleet have driven the French out of the Gulf.

From the Harlem Courant, Dated Sept. 2.

Coningsberg, Aug. 22. 'Tis advis'd from Courland that some of Oginski's Party have burnt the little Towns of Schoode and Cretingen, with the Villages that lye about them, all belonging to the Sapichas.

Frankfort, Aug. 27. They write from the Camp before Landau, That they had taken a Spy who was sent by the Governour to acquaint Marshal Catinat that if he did not relieve the Place within 10 days, it could hold out no longer. Upon notice of some of the Enemy's Troops having been seen in the Mountains near Landau, (who might attempt to break thro' the Camp to get into the City) all the Passes are secur'd, and the Watches doubled. The Detachment which some time ago was sent from the Army before Landau towards the Mosel, to observe the Motions of the Enemy, is now at Sobernheim on the River Nahe. They write from Heidelberg, that the K. of the Romans, who had been there to visit his Queen, is return'd, taking the Elector Palatine with him, to the Siege of Landau; and that the Electress Palatine will continue in Heidelberg, to keep the Queen of the Romans company. A French Ingenier, who came out of Landau, and discover'd several Mines to the Besiegers, (which gain'd him so much credit with them, that he could easily inform himself of their Condition and Designs) attempted to return into the Place, but was catch'd; Prince Lewis of Baden would have had him hang'd up, but General Thungen advising that Execution should be deferr'd, till he should drain the Ditch of all the Water in it (which he had before promis'd to do) he is respited for a time, and put under Confinement.

From the Hague Gazette, Dated Aug. 31.

They write from the Upper Moselle, That the Detachment from the Army before Landau under General Junkhein, having receiv'd a Reinforcement of Hussars, march'd the 23d from Sobernheim towards Gernunden and Trarbach, from which last place they design to make Lines as far as Lauteren, for the Securing of those Garrisons in the Winter.

From the Harlem Courant, Dated Sept. 2.

Cologne, Aug. 29. Yesterday 2000 Men of the Troops of Munster arriv'd near Wesel, where they will be receiv'd into the Service of the Dutch. There are more new Works mark'd out to be added to the Fortifications of Bonn, but because those Works will take up the Ground of several Vineyards, the Burghers have Petition'd the Elector to defer them till they have gather'd in their Vintage: whether he will comply with their request, is not yet known. 'Tis said that at Wesel and Dusseldorp all Vessels are Prohibited from going to and from either of those Places to the other, to hinder the carrying of any Provisions into Rhinberg by Water.

From the Amsterdam Courant, Dated Sept. 2.

Amsterdam, Sept. 1. There is Advice come to Dunkirk from St. Maloes, that 5 Algerine-Rovers lay in the Mouth of the Channell; and since that, 'tis advis'd, that their Number is increas'd to 10, and that they are come into the Channell a cruising.
